

The First THANKSGIVING

Another group of people already lived in the land where the Pilgrims wanted to make their home. This group of people were called Native Americans. These people knew many things about living in this land.

