Y y

Tracing practice for the cursive letter 'Y'. The practice consists of six rows of handwriting lines. The first two rows are for uppercase 'Y', and the last four rows are for lowercase 'y'. Each row contains eight letters, with the first letter in each row being a solid example and the following seven being dashed lines for tracing. Small arrows and numbers (1, 2, 3) are placed at the start of each letter to indicate the stroke order and direction.
