

laun•dry ['lɒn•drē]
noun, pl: laundries

1. clothes or linens that need to be washed; the process of washing such items. 2. a room in a house where clothes and linens are washed.

