

I beg for your understanding,
I plea for your forgiveness.
I am ashamed and scared
Of these words I am about to say.
These words have been used by others words that have been spoken loosely, abusively and selfishly by So many before me on this very day
But Alas I know of no other words,
For I am a mere mortal of flesh and bones.
So as my feelings for you compel me
I must say these words at risk of being alone.
So as I humble myself in your presence,
I reach for your hand upon my knees. Gaze into your eyes; and ask that you Believe these words I say are true.
"I will always Honor, cherish, adore,
and Love You."

