

This image shows a sheet of primary-ruled paper. It features a central vertical red line that serves as a margin. The paper is ruled with horizontal lines, and the bands between these lines alternate between white and light gray. The entire sheet is enclosed in a rectangular border with small tick marks at the corners, suggesting it is a template for a notebook page.