

50th Birthday Party Game

Instructions: spin a bottle. Whom it lands on must answer the question. Or alternatively everyone must answer the questions, once done they then exchange with someone else to read out.

1. How old would you be if you didn't know how old you are?
2. Which is worse, failing or never trying?

3. If life is so short, why do we do so many things we don't like and like so many things we don't do?
4. What is the one thing you'd most like to change about the world?
5. What is one thing you always wanted but never got?

6. If happiness was the national currency, what kind of work would make you rich?
7. Are you doing what you believe in, or are you settling for what you are doing?

8. If the average human life span was 40 years, what is one thing you would do or change?
9. To what degree have you actually controlled the course your life has taken?

10. Are you more worried about doing things right, or doing the right things?

11. You're having lunch with three people you respect and admire. They all start criticizing a close friend of yours, not knowing she is your friend. The criticism is distasteful and unjustified. What do you do?

12. Newton's child only one piece of advice, what would it be?

13. An elderly person what is one thing you would encourage them to do?

14. Would you break the law to save a loved one?

15. What's something you know you do differently than most people?
