two people I look to for guidance:

two people who look to me for guidance:

to do

one morning thing:

one afternoon thing:

one evening thing:

This is what I've been up to lately:

lightning round: early or late? clairvoyance or telepathy? ladle or spatula? flute or violin? quilt or duvet? Cupid or the Tooth Fairy? uppercase or lowercase letters? paper or cloth napkins? grilled cheese sandwich or macaroni and cheese? square or circle? sofa or loveseat? helicopter or hot air balloon? central air conditioning or central vacuum cleaner? toboggan or skis? tom-ay-to or tom-ah-to? lions or tigers or bears (oh my!)? penguin or polar bear? balloons or confetti? billboards or graffiti? television ad or movie trailer?

We live in a web of ideas, a fabric of our own making.

~ Joseph Chilton Pearce

a few of my favourite things . . .

two things I never leave home without:

two things I keep by my bedside:

two things I'd replace immediately if lost:
