

Who was responsible for the death of Jesus?

Was it the Romans?

"You said that you didn't believe that we were not human. But now I hear you're a Jew!"

(John 10:24)

"You're talking about my father just like you're talking about yours."

(John 10:25)

But why?

John 10:31: "Then the people of the Jewish nation who knew him said to him, 'He didn't even say anything to us, so why are you trying to kill him?'"

"You have nothing against him?" "No, we're all in this for because we're a nation of free men. So why are you trying to kill an innocent? We've never known him, and he's not even a prophet of the Jewish people."

Was it the Jews?

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

(John 10:24)

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

(John 10:24)

But why?

John 10:31: "Then the people of the Jewish nation who knew him said to him, 'He didn't even say anything to us, so why are you trying to kill him?'"

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

Was it the priests?

(John 10:24)

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

(John 10:24)

But why?

John 10:31: "Then the people of the Jewish nation who knew him said to him, 'He didn't even say anything to us, so why are you trying to kill him?'"

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

(John 10:24)

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

Was it you?

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

(John 10:24)

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

Conclusion

Nothing was his fault, or was it?

(John 10:24)

So what does this mean?

(John 10:24)

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

But why?

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

"You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven. You're talking about a king of men and you're talking about a king of heaven."

Why did Jesus Die?

Why did Jesus have to suffer so much?

Could it have been prevented?

Would that death have helped him?

Why didn't he help him?

Who was responsible for his death?
