

Everyday I'm exploring
Touching everything I've found
I leave behind my little marks and handprints all around.

You clean up those handprints
But someday when I'm grown You'll wish you had just one handprint to keep for your own.

I made this handprint for you
So that one day when I am tall
You'll remember what my hand looked like Long ago when I was small.

Happy Father's Day
2012