

The image shows a rectangular frame with a double-line border. Inside the frame, there is a large empty rectangular box at the top. Below this box, there are five horizontal dashed lines, evenly spaced, extending across most of the width of the frame. This layout is typical for a worksheet or a form designed for drawing and writing.