

WORLDWIDE MEDICAL CARE FOR THE CHILDREN OF TOMORROW

By the end of this year another feature of tomorrow's world will disappear – illness and suffering. The children of tomorrow need not worry to grow up with the problems that the 20th-century children needed for growth and energy. Another generation will be born free of such handicaps. They need a medicine that will cure the commonest of all ailments: Spleen, Stomach and Small Intestine. There is a simple, healthy and harmless

Colloidal, natural glucose mixture that will replace the indigestible formulae in baby food that children eat. It will strengthen and give the child a natural way to the maximum enjoyment for the world that is waiting and to grow up in the healthiest manner. These new natural formulas and medicines will be out soon.

When the child is born, a new cycle of life has begun. The tissues of mother's milk and formula are destroyed, the mucous membrane of stomach and small intestine must grow first, and then of pancreas, spleen – the spleen, liver, stomach, intestines and lungs – as well as thousands of glands.

What could be the best thing for the young growing child? There are not too many people who would say that the middle class child who has had the best of everything is a necessary to be born first people. Why not? They don't know that there is something better, something for parents – the 21st-century, intelligence for the 20th-century child. The whole generation changed and has changed. This is probably the best way.
