Write in the behavior, either positive behavior that you want your child to achieve or negative behavior to be reduced, in columns labeled #1, #2, #3, and #4. Next, keep quick notes on the behavior under the "Notes on Behavior" column, this is designed to help you identify if there is a trigger that starts the behavior [i.e. certain foods, specific words, people, or situations that set off the behavior]. The notes don't have to be detailed, but they can help identify a possible pattern that triggers or leads to the behavior.

The "Behavior did not occur today" should be checked when the behavior did not occur for the entire day. This helps to identify if there is a specific day or series of days that are better for your child over other days. The "Forgot to Rate" column is essential to honest assessment of behavior.

Lastly, the "Rate" heading allows you or your child to rate the behavior. At the end of the day, you can check the box under the number 1, 2, or 3 to provide feedback on the behavior. The 1 means we need to work harder, 2 is getting better but still needs some work, and 3 means good job! Get feedback from your child, ask them how they think they did on achieving the behavior goals.
