

theorganizedlife

twenty sixteen

This image shows a partial calendar for the years 2016 and 2017. It covers the months of January and February. Each row represents a day, with columns for the month and year. The days are color-coded: white for weekdays and light blue for weekends. Some dates are highlighted in a darker blue, possibly indicating holidays or specific events.

twenty fifteen

This image shows a full calendar for the year 2015, laid out on a grid. The columns represent the months: January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, and December. The rows represent the days of the month. The calendar is color-coded: white for weekdays, light blue for weekends, and a darker blue for specific dates. The layout includes a header for each month and a 'notes' section at the bottom.