

A series of horizontal lines for writing, starting from the right side of the shark's mouth and extending across the page. The lines are evenly spaced and cover most of the page's width.