

informed, skilled, experienced: quas (artis) qui te-nent eruditī appellantur. — vaceulus: rebus gestis: litteris eruditōr quātū. Cursus: disciplinā iuris civilis eruditissimis. — utram honestis misere, Ta.: minus erudita si est honestis. — Genecorum copia, fulness of Greek books, L.

ē-rumpō, rūpī, rūptū, rūptū, L. Tranc., to cause to break forth, emit, throw out. Canis, erumpit ignis, C. p. er ignis se feras, Cs.: unde se erumpit Europa, L. — To break through, rubem, V.: vis piscium — tūm erumpens, Ta. — Fūcū, to pour forth, weed; in me stomachum: — navis (navis) iracundiam, Ga.: iram in hostis, L. — II.
Intrans, to break out, burst forth, set forth:
dato signo ex castro, I. — limes: — actnae ver- tice erumpunt: portis, S., noctu, Cs.: per hostis, L. — Fig, to break out, burst forth: cum ita coniuratio ex latebris erupisset: si erumpat omnia? — are disclosed: erumpat me digna vox, erupit inde seditio, I. — erumpunt saepe vitia in amicos, ne istaec fortitudiō in nervum erumpat, I. e., en-in bringing you to the stocks, T.: rem ad ultimum seditionis erupturam, L.

ē-ruō, uī, utus, ere, to pull forth, throw out, root up, dig out, take: lumen, O.: — spuleris ca- prificos, H.: segetem ab radicibus, V.: mortuum aquam remis, to plough up, O.: illum, to hunt down: queinvīs medīa turba, H.: Eruitur oculos, his eyes are torn out, O. — To root out, destroy ut- terly: urbem a sedibus, V.: Troizmas opes, V. — Fig, to draw out, bring out, elicere: mihi qui legati fuerint: ex quibus (locis) argumenta: si quis obrutum erit: Sacra annalibus eruta, C.: perse- rata (verba), rescindit oblitio, H.: neglectum exercitatione: diffringit memoria, oblita, etc.
to be freed: hoc mihi eruō, — reputed, etc.
talked out of me.

ēruptiō, ônis, f. [es + ruptus]: bursting out, bursting forth: ignium: — eruptus, a sally, in hostes, L.: ab eruptionibus, etc., Cs.

ēruptus, P. of erupo.
erus (not herus), i., m. [ES-], the master of a house, head of a family, sup. quondam, G., L., H.: A master, lord, owner, proprietor, propounder, ten-tūris, H.: fundus pascat erum, H.: tuus, i.e., hus- band, Ct.: cælestes, the gods, Ct.

ēruts, P. of eruo.

ervum (her-), i., n., a pulse, bitter vetch, L., H., O.

erythinus, i., m., = ιρυθίνος, a red, a red-dye, O.

ēsca, ae, f. [ED-], a dish (prepared for the table), food, victuals, viands, meat, bait: tempe-ēscāria, ôrum, n. [esca], dishes, plate, Iu.

ēscendō (exs-), endi, ēnsus, ere [ex + scando], to climb up, mount, ascend: in etulum: in rostra:
quo cum escenisset, L.: equis, S.: Octam, L.: ro-stra, Ta.: Ilium, mari, to oceano, L.: Delphos, L.

ēscēnsiō, ôrum, [ex + SCEND-], an ascension, mounting, climbing, going up: ascensionem a Pae-sto facere, L.: — cavibus in terram — landing, L.: quibus (clavis) escensione: — agros factae erant, incursions, L.

ēscēnsus, us, m. [ex + SCEND-], a scaling.
— Only abl. sing. capta escensu munimenta, by storm, Ta.

ēscēnsus, adj. [esca], fit for eating, good to eat, edible: fructu. — Plur. n. as subst., food.

ēscēntus, old, for erunt; — esse, inf. of sum. — ēssē, inf. of 1 edo. ēscēdarius, i., m. [escenedum], a fighter in a char-charge, C., Cs.

ēscēdum, i., n., and (poet.) ēscēda, ôrum victor: a two-wheeled war-chariot, car (of Gauls and Britons), Cs., L., V.; sometimes displayed at Rome, C., II., C.

ēsem, see sum. — ēssēs, ēsset, see 1 edo.
ēst, see sum. — ēst, ēstur, see 1 edo.

ēsuriō, —, liturus, ire, desid. [1 edo], to desire to eat, suffer hunger, be hungry, hunger: esurientis ceteris: num esuriens fastidis omnia? H.: est spes nos esurientes satie, T.: Nil quod nobis fatur, O.: dicitiae, quae esurire cogunt, Cu.

ēsuriō, ônis, f. [esurio], a hungering, hunger, C.

et, adv. and conj. I. As adv., adding to a fact or thought, also, too, besides, moreover, likewise, as well, even: Ph. vale. Pa. et tu bene vale, T.: ‘tu tuum negotium gessisti bene.’ Gere et tu tuom et Caelius profectus . . . pervenit, Cs.: et cives fundit Sabino, L.: nam et testimonium supradicendum est: qui bellum gesserint, quom et regis inimici essent: id te et nunc rogo: Romulus et ipse arma tollens, L.: amisso et ipse Pacoro, Ta.: spatium non tenent tantum, sed et implent, Ta. — II. As conj., and, as the simplest connective of words or clauses: cum constemus ex animo et corpe: dixerat et conripiunt spa-tium, V.: Xerxes et duo Artaxerxes, Macrochir et Menon, N. — After a negat., but: portū capere non poterunt, et infra delatae sunt, Cs. — After an emphatic word: hoc et erit simile, etc. (i. e. et hoc): Danaū et . . . Ut caderem meruisse manu (i. e. et meruisse ut Danaū manu cederem), V.: vagus et sinistrā Labitur ripā, II. — Regularly,