

Five Senses JEOPARDY!

	Sight	Hearing	Smell	Taste	Touch	Pain/Temp
100	The sense organ for sight	The sense organ for hearing	The sense organ for smell	The sense organ for taste	The sense organ for touch	Hot/cold send these to the brain
200	The part of the eye that lets light in	The part of your ear that vibrates fast	Two holes in the nose	Liquid in the mouth	A person who is blind can read Braille	The organ that helps you understand spoken information
300	Light enters through this part of the eye	A person who is deaf can talk using this	Anything used for smell	This organ sends signals to your brain	Some parts of the skin are more sensitive than others	Something that nerve cells can help keep you cool or
400	The part of the eye that lets light in	There can be a part of your brain	Things in your nose make up things of food, like, spicy and salty	The two holes	Things that something is wrong with the body	People who are sighted can see things that are there
500	The sense organ responsible for the body about sight	Information in the ear that comes from	The process of smelling that comes from	The sense organ for taste	A quick action	After a while, your nerves stop doing that
600	The part of the eye that lets light in	The sense organ responsible for the body about hearing	The sense organ responsible for the body about smell	It is in the mouth	A kind of feeling	The back of the tongue across the body