

Betsy McCall has a Merry Christmas

Betsy McCall's mother in her nightgown that's just like Betsy's

When Betsy McCall hopped out of bed on Christmas morning, it was so very early that the sun wasn't even up! But Betsy couldn't wait a single second longer because all week her mother had been saying, "No, Betsy, you can't see what's in the locked cupboard! You have to wait until Christmas morning." So Betsy put on her warm robe and ran downstairs. She went in the dining room and there was the surprise, right in the middle of the table. It was a merry-go-round just like the one on McCall's cover. Betsy's mother had made it for her. "Oh my," said Betsy. "It's almost too pretty to eat! I'd like to keep it always."
