

Living With String

Stringers can still live full, happy, birding lives. Being labeled a stringer does not mean the end of your birding career.

Sure the IRBC will rip you to shreds at every given opportunity, but this does not mean you cannot enjoy a good day stringing on cape clear in October.

Modern Anti-depressants are far more effective today than they were 20 years ago. Your doctor can help you live with being a stringer through effective medication routines.

If that does not appeal to you, there's always drink and many stringers avail of this cheap, easily obtainable, mind numbing substance to ease them through their days and claim string records. The birding world is your bar stool.

Self found Pigeons are a benefit of being a stringer

So You Are A Stringer.

The IRBC
Promoting String since 1984