

Aboriginal Art

Aboriginal art uses earth colours (black, brown, red, orange, yellow and white) to reflect the colours of the desert. Aboriginal artists make art from natural materials. Their paintings use a lot of dots because they used their fingers or sticks to paint. Aboriginal people have lived in Australia for over 40,000 years. There were no paintbrushes available to use at that time.

Use earth colours to decorate this kangaroo.

