

Two columns of text in a Gothic script, likely Latin. The text is arranged in two columns, with a large initial letter at the start of each column. The script is dense and well-aligned.

A single line of text in a Gothic script, possibly a title or a section header. The text is centered and features a large, ornate initial letter.

Two columns of text in a Gothic script, similar to the top section. The text is arranged in two columns, with a large initial letter at the start of each column. The script is dense and well-aligned.