

A series of horizontal lines for writing, starting from the right side of the flag and extending across the page. The lines are evenly spaced and cover most of the page's vertical space.