

I spent last summer on my grandfather's adjective farm.
He raises noun/s for local food noun/s. He also grows corn on the noun, adjective lettuce and lima noun/s. My favorite place to verb on the farm is the adjective house where grandfather keeps his noun/s. But when I visit in November, there are no noun/s! They are all gone!
I anxiously await at the table that Thanksgiving. I see the corn on the noun and even the lima noun/s.
I am relieved when grandma brings out a noun for Thanksgiving dinner!
