

CELEBRATING THANKSGIVING

Every month , my family celebrates Thanksgiving.

First, my parents buy a adjective food to verb in the oven all day. For side dishes, my family makes verb; past tense plural noun , plural noun , and verb; past tense plural noun . I help verb the table with a adjective tablecloth decorated with plural noun and plural noun . The worst part is cleaning up; we verb the dishes in the noun and have to verb them all in adjective water. But at least there's always adjective noun for dessert!
