

Name:

Date:

Story Starters

The door had always been locked, until today, when it slowly creaked open by itself

When I woke up, the clock was spinning backward, & nothing felt normal

I received a message from an unknown number. It knew everything about me
