My Dearest Wife,

I wanted to take this time to wish you a happy anniversary and to express to you in writing just how much I love you.

It was 18 years ago today that the Lord joined us together in matrimony, and through the good times and bad — the trials and tribulations, I've grown to love you even more today. After 18 years of marriage, you still manage to make me realize that I am the luckiest man on earth.

I look forward to another 18(x2) years of sharing life's experiences with you and growing old (older) together.

With Sincere and Everlasting Love,

Your Husband
